Appendix A

Definitions of Abuse:

There are four main categories of abuse outlined in Children First: National Guidelines for the Protection and Welfare of Children. They are:

- Neglect
- Emotional abuse
- Physical abuse
- Sexual abuse

The following is a synopsis of the information contained in the Children First: National Guidelines for the Protection and Welfare of Children.

Neglect

‘Neglect can be defined as being where the child suffers significant harm or impairment of development by being deprived of food, clothing, warmth, hygiene, intellectual stimulation, supervision and safety, attachment to and affection from adults, medical care ... The threshold of significant harm is reached when the child’s needs are neglected to the extent that his or her well-being and/or development are severely affected.’⁸

Emotional abuse

Emotional abuse usually relates to the relationship between a carer and a child rather than a specific incident or incidents. Emotional abuse can manifest in the child’s behaviour or physical functioning. Examples of these include insecure attachment, unhappiness, low self-esteem, educational and developmental underachievement and uncooperative or hostile behaviour.

‘The threshold of significant harm is reached when interaction is predominantly abusive and becomes typical of the relationship between the child and the parent/carers.’⁹

Examples of emotional abuse in children include:

- Imposition of negative attributes on children, expressed by persistent criticism, sarcasm, hostility or blaming;
- Conditional parenting in which the level of care shown to a child is made contingent on his or her behaviours or actions;
- Emotional unavailability by the child’s parent/carers;
- Unresponsiveness, inconsistent or inappropriate expectations of the child;
- Premature imposition of responsibility on the child;
- Unrealistic or inappropriate expectations of the child’s capacity to understand something or to behave and control him/herself in a certain way;
- Under or over protection of the child;
- Failure to show interest in, or provide age-appropriate opportunities for, the child’s cognitive and emotional development;
- Use of unreasonably harsh discipline;

Children First, Section 2.2.1

⁸ Children First, Section 2.3.2

⁹

- Exposure to domestic violence.
- Exposure to inappropriate or abuse material through new technology

Physical Abuse

Physical abuse is a form of non-accidental injury or injury which result from wilful or neglectful failure to protect a child. Examples of physical injury include:

- Severe physical punishment;
- Beating, slapping, hitting or kicking;
- Pushing, shaking or throwing;
- Pinching, biting, choking or hair-pulling;
- Terrorising with threats;
- Observing violence;
- Use of excessive force in handling;
- Deliberate poisoning;
- Suffocation;
- Fabricated/induced illness
- Allowing or creating a substantial risk of significant physical harm to a child.

Sexual Abuse

Sexual abuse involves the use of a child for gratification or sexual arousal by a person for themselves or others.

Examples of sexual abuse include:

- Exposure of the sexual organs or any sexual act intentionally performed in the presence of a child;
- Intentional touching or molesting of the body of a child whether by a person or object for the purpose of sexual arousal or gratification;
- Masturbation in the presence of the child or involvement of the child in an act of masturbation;
- Sexual intercourse with a child whether oral, vaginal or anal;
- Sexual exploitation of a child. This may include showing sexually explicit material to children which is often a feature of the 'grooming' process by perpetrators of abuse;
- Consensual sexual activity involving an adult and an under-age person.

Appendix B

Recognising child neglect or abuse

Child neglect or abuse can often be difficult to identify and may present in many forms. A list of indicators of child abuse is contained in Appendix A. No one indicator should be seen as conclusive in itself of abuse. It may indicate conditions other than child abuse. All signs and symptoms must be examined in the context of the child's situation and family circumstances.

Guidelines for recognition

The ability to recognise child abuse can depend as much on a person's willingness to accept the possibility of its existence as it does on their knowledge and information. There are commonly three stages in the identification of child neglect or abuse:

- (a) considering the possibility;
- (b) looking out for signs of neglect or abuse;
- (c) recording of information.

Reasonable grounds for concern

- An injury or behaviour that is consistent both with abuse and an innocent explanation, but where there are corroborative indicators supporting the concern that it may be a case of abuse.
- Consistent indication over a period of time that a child is suffering from emotional or physical neglect.
- Admission or indication by someone of an alleged abuse.
- A specific indication from a child that he or she was abused.
- An account from a person who saw the child being abused.
- Evidence (e.g. injury or behaviour) that is consistent with abuse and unlikely to have been caused in any other way

Refer to pages 70-74, Children First: National Guidance for the Protection and Welfare of Children for further details regarding the signs and symptoms of child abuse.

Remember you must refer – You should not investigate.

Guidance Note to help you fill in the Standard Report Form:

The Child and Family Agency (Tusla) has a statutory responsibility under the Child Care Act 1991 to promote the protection and welfare of children. The Child and Family Agency therefore has an obligation to receive information about any child who is not receiving adequate care and/or protection.

This report form is for use by:

- Any professional, individual or group involved in services to children, including Child and Family Agency and HSE personnel, who becomes aware of a child protection or welfare concern, or to whom a child protection or child welfare concern is reported.
- Professionals and individuals in the provision of child care services in the community who have service contracts with the Child and Family Agency or the HSE.
- Designated persons in a voluntary or community agency.

Please fill in as much information and detail as is known to you. This will assist the Social Work Department in assessing the level of risk to the child or the support services required. If the information requested is not known to you, please indicate this by putting a line through the question. It is likely that a social worker will contact you to discuss your report.

The Child and Family Agency aims to work in partnership with parents. If you are making this report in confidence, you should note that the Child and Family Agency cannot guarantee absolute confidentiality for the following reasons:

- A Court could order the information be disclosed.
- Under the Freedom of Information Acts 1997 and 2003, the Freedom of Information Commissioner may order that information be disclosed.

You should also note that in making a 'bona fide report', you are protected under the Protection for persons Reporting Child Abuse Act 1998.

If you are unsure if you should report your concerns, please telephone your local Child and Family Agency duty social worker and discuss your concerns with them (click here for contact details - www.tusla.ie/services/child-protection-welfare/contact-a-social-worker).
